Mansfield Urges Viet Nam Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield warned Friday that the U.S. effort in South Viet Nam faces disaster unless all American agencies there respond promptly to policy changes ordered by President Kennedy.

The Montana Democrat's Senate speech was a thinly veiled rebuke to the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency operations in South Viet Nam, informed sources said, for giving the impression the United States speaks with two voices in dealing with the Saigon government.

Mansfield did not mention the CIA in saying there are more than 15,000 Americans in South Viet Nam helping in the effort to avert a Communist guerrilla victory.

Paladin Crashes In Sportscar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Richard Boone—Paladin of television's "Have Gun, Will Travel"—suffered face cuts and a rib injury Friday when his sports roadster struck a parked car at 4 a.m., police reported.

Reports from the scene indicated the actor's head crashed through the windshield, bits of glass were embedded in his face. His chest broke the steering wheel, police said.

After the crash, Boone, 46, walked a block to his home in coastal Pacific Palisades. His wife called a doctor.

Udall Hammers Goldwater

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall took up the "Beat Goldwater" cudgel Friday at the Western Democratic Conference and applied it to reclamation and natural resources.

Udall credited the Kennedy administration with "being in the mainstream of the great conservation tradition." Then he asked Democrats to look in contrast at the Republican party.

"Take Sen. Barry Goldwater as the chief spokesman of the Republican party," Udall said. "The hearts of Republicans belong to Barry. The philosophy he espouses comes closest to the true center point of the Republican party."

Wallace Hits Mayor Lee

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George Wallace told the mayor of New Haven, Conn., Friday that he is "certain that your political purposes have been well served" by causing Yale University to cancel Wallace's speaking engagement.

"I am also certain that it is distasteful to the Yale Political Union to find that its cherished tradition of presenting the views of all can be curtailed overnight," he said in a telegram to Mayor Richard Lee.

Knowland Urges Barry Primary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former Sen. William F. Knowland Friday urged Sen. Barry Goldwater's entry into California's 1964 Republican primary.

He said Goldwater would defeat a slate pledged to New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller by upwards of 500,000 votes and any other delegation by a great deal more.

Knowland's statement, at a news conference, followed his selection by Goldwater as one of the leaders of a 23-man committee to advise the Arizona senator whether he should get into the California primary next June.

Philly To Mark Negro Murders

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor James H. J. Tate has proclaimed Sunday as a day of mourning for the four Negro girls killed by a bomb in Birmingham, Ala.

The mayor on Friday described the tragedy as "a monstrous attack which strikes at the conscience of the nation." His proclamation urged everyone to pray for "divine guidance in overcoming universal prejudice."

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Churning ahead despite massive profit taking, the stock market posted further new highs in popular averages today. Trading was the week's heaviest.

By the close, the Dow Jones industrial average was up .38 to 743.60 — bettering the previous high made Thursday. Early in the afternoon, however, the Dow industrials had reached 746.13.

Volume swelled to 5.31 million shares from 4.08 million Thursday.

Kennedy Asks U.S.-Soviet Moon Flight

JFK Sees Cold War Pause, Urges Peaceful Cooperation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Kennedy proposed Friday that the United States and the Soviet Union dramatize the pause in the cold war by sending a joint expedition to the moon. The Soviet Union said it would study the idea.

Kennedy made the proposal in a major policy speech to the U.N. General Assembly that was conciliatory in tone but specific in setting out basic U.S.-Soviet differences.

U.N. diplomats praised the speech for its moderation, just as they did Thursday after the policy speech delivered by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Gromyko said that the general tone of the Kennedy speech is "conciliatory and this is good. As to the concrete proposals made in the speech, I would not prefer to comment now because I would like to study them thoroughly."

'Warm Greetings'

In general it was a day of East-West cordiality with Gromyko responding to Kennedy "warm personal greetings" from Premier Khrushchev. Gromyko did so at a reception given by Kennedy for all heads of U.N. delegations after his speech.

The only jarring note came from Cuba, which boycotted the speech in the assembly. Carlos Lechuga, head of the Cuban delegation, said he did not want to hear "distortions of the truth" from Kennedy in regard to the Cuban revolution.

United States in the race in May, 1961, with target of landing astronauts on the moon before 1970, there was a general national enthusiasm.

Scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration rallied to Kennedy's cause. They said a manned landing on the moon was possible with present technology and talked hopefully of putting astronauts there as early as 1967. Congress provided without question the millions needed to get the program started.

It was estimated the total effort would cost less than $20 billion. Now, two years later, estimates run as high as $40 billion.

Project Mercury, which sent six men into space, was climaxized successfully last May with astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. making a 22-orbit mission.

They agreed that a combined effort would help ease world tensions, but they were disappointed at the indication Kennedy is ready to abandon the goal of being first on the moon.

Heirs of the PromiseILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

The history of Israel as written in Genesis was later reviewed by the author of Psalm 105, writing probably for the small band of exiles who finally returned to Judea. He emphasized the promise of God to Abraham about Canaan.—Psalm 105.

Much later, about 56 A.D., the apostle Paul wrote that Abraham had found favor with God through his faith, and through Christ, Gentiles of faith would also inherit God's promises. The law, he said, served only until faith came.—Galatians 3.

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen," wrote Paul to the Hebrews. He reviewed the great faith of the characters of Genesis, saying faith leads us to revealed knowledge.—Hebrews 11:1-10.

Paul wrote of the faith of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph, who did not live to see God's Promised Land become theirs but who firmly believed that it would become so eventually.—Hebrews 11:1-10.

Peace Group To Present 1963 Award

WASHINGTON — The 1963 peace award of the Catholic Association for International Peace will be presented to Teodoro Moscoso, U.S. coordinator of the Alliance for Progress, at CAIP's annual conference here next week.

The place of citizen groups in the Alliance for Progress will be discussed at the award luncheon Saturday, September 28, at the Sheraton-Park Hotel, by Gen. Thomas A. Lane (US-ret.).

Moscoso is cited as having "the responsibility of carrying out some of the world's most important projects in these critical times," the U.S. program of financial and technical assistance to Latin America.

The citation recalls Moscoso's service as head of the Operation Bootstrap economic development program in his native Puerto Rico, and pledge CAIP's support to the Alliance for Progress.

yearnings, the self-examination and the prayers are for renewed righteousness in individuals and in society, for the upholding of God's will as expressed in Isaiah, 56:6-7:

"...to loose the bonds of wickedness...to let the oppressed to free...to break every yoke...to share your bread with the hungry, to bring the homeless into your house..."

Jewish leaders say the struggle for these objectives has a special relevance in race relationship in this country and in oppression and need abroad.

The holy days began at sunset Wednesday, with observance of Rosh Hashannah Hebrew for "beginning of the year." In homes, candles were lit, prayers said, and sweets eaten—cakes and apple slices dipped in honey.

"...inscribe us in the book of life...O God of life," the families prayed.

There were special services in the synagogues, and hymns, psalms and prayers: "Help us, O God, to understand that injustice and hate will not forever afflict us."

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Retired military personnel were urged to consider church vocations during the semi-annual meetings here of the Lutheran Service Commissions and the National Lutheran Council's Bureau of Service to Military Personnel.

A report on the use of persons with armed forces experience in the direction of Lutheran service centers was made to the LSC by the Rev. William H. Speer Jones.

He said that four of the five Lutheran service centers on the east coast are directed by lay persons who have had extended military service.

"We have come to the conclusion," he noted, "that having had military experience is a valuable asset for those who direct our centers" and "we are encouraging retired military personnel interested in directing service center activities to get in touch with us."

Interested individuals should be dedicated, mature and have an outgoing personality, he added.

The Rev. Marwede said that currently the first woman to enter the Women's Air Force (WAF), Miss Ray Ross, directs the Jacksonville, Fla., service center and men with Army and Navy backgrounds are in charge of activities in Charleston, S. C., Washington, D. C., and Jacksonville, N. C.

Legislature Lauded For School Action

STROUDSBURG — Dr. Herbert E. Bryan, director of school district organization for the Department of Public Instruction, told Monroe County school directors at their 59th annual meeting last night that, "Of all the sessions of the legislature since I have been in Harrisburg, this recent session passed more significant school legislation."

Speaking at the school directors convention in the courthouse, Dr. Bryan said, "We are not the leading state in education in the country but the recently passed school bills will enable us to hold our own."

School Merger Approaches

Explaining the School Reorganization Act of 1963, Dr. Bryan outlined four approaches the Monroe County Board of School Directors can take in reorganizing county schools to conform with the new reorganization act.

One, the county school directors can do nothing about submitting a bill on or before the deadline date of July 1, 1964. Under these circumstances the Council of Basic Education would take over the reorganization of Monroe County schools.

Two, the county directors may submit a plan calling for more units or smaller units than is presently in effect. In this case the Council of Basic Education would also take over the reorganization of county schools.

Three, the county school directors can submit a plan calling for the formation of a school district with no more units or no units of smaller size than existed on or before Sept. 12, 1961. (This is the plan that the county is now operating under.) If this plan is submitted to Harrisburg it will receive automatic approval of the State Council of Basic Education.

Four, the county School board may submit a plan calling for fewer districts with more students in each unit, or the county can resubmit the plan calling for Monroe County to merge into one school district. (The one district plan was drawn up to conform with the old school reorganization act No. 561). If either of these plans were submitted to Harrisburg they would receive automatic approval from the Basic Council of Education.

Dr. Bryan said the Department of Public Instruction is in a "state of terrific flux waiting for the governor to form the newly created State Board of Education. The board will have 17 members and must be created and named by Nov. 6, 1963. The council of basic education will be a seven member council and its members will be chosen from the larger state board of education."

The college president said that the children in his part of Kentucky are the same as children in any section of the country and "cannot learn if they are not taught."

The teachers also heard Harold J. Koch, assistant executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State Education Association speak on "Your Retirement-New Legislation and Problems."

Koch told the teachers that for the first time the PSEA joined with the School Board Directors Association and the Parent Teachers Association of Pennsylvania in lobbying for school legislation in Harrisburg during the last legislative session.

Discussing school legislation passed by the 1963 General Assembly, Koch urged teachers to become familiar with all school legislation passed in Harrisburg.

Social Security Task

Edward F. Sullivan, district manager, Social Security Administration in Easton spoke on "Your Social Security." He explained, teachers who did not sign up for Social Security when the plan was open in the years 1966, 1967, 1959 and 1963 will find it difficult to become a member of the plan in the future.

Sullivan said it was his opinion that federal legislation will have to be passed before the social security plan can be opened to teachers not now enrolled.

Other speakers taking part in the meeting were Capt. D. N. Morey, deputy chief of staff, Naval Reserve, U.S. Naval Base in Philadelphia.

He spoke on "Opportunities Provided by the U.S. Navy." Capt. Morey was introduced by Dr. Eugene P. Powes, head of the Department of Education at East Stroudsburg State College.

During the afternoon session John C. Mills, supervising principal of Pleasant Valley Schools talked on elementary school teachers. Part of the program was devoted to a talk by Dr. Ray M. Stine, advisor, reading development, State Department of Public Instruction.

Center of Advancement

The 83-year-old French chateau-type residence will once again be a center for the advancement of conservation education in America, Secretary Freeman added.

Dr. Gifford Pinchot, Jr., Baltimore physician and son of the first chief of the U.S. Forest Service, had this to say:

"I am sure my father would have wanted this very much. Nothing could be more appropriate than making this property available to the forest service, the nation's top conservation agency, which may father founded."

Dr. Pinchot added that four other men who later headed the forest service received their field training at the Pinchot estate, which was the summer camp for the Yale University Forestry School.

Vacation Bureau Gets $2,356 Check For Tourism Growth

STROUDSBURG — A $2,356.56 check to enable the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau to increase its promotion efforts was presented to the tourism promotion organization Friday by the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co.

Ralph E. Reppert, P.P.L. district manager, presented the check to William J. Altier, retiring president of the bureau, at the annual report membership dinner at Mt. Airy Lodge.

In announcing the contribution, Reppert said:

"Since tourism does play a vital part in the growth of the Pocono Mountains community and of our company, the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. is delighted to be able to share in the promotion of this great tourist and vacation area."

"The dynamic growth of the Pocono Mountains resort region is a testimony to the excellent leadership Mr. Altier has given the organization during his five years as its president."

Recognition to Poconos

The contribution was based on matching a certain percentage of the bureau's total advertising expenditures in metropolitan newspapers and was designed to create even wider recognition of the resorts and attractions in the Pocono Mountains area.

Reppert indicated that the vacation bureau's qualification under the Pennsylvania tourist promotion law was a criterion for eligibility.

Reppert said the contribution to the bureau is in addition to the company's own continuing advertising and publicity efforts in promoting Central Eastern Pennsylvania in metropolitan newspapers and national business publications.

Altier expressed the gratitude of the membership for the general contribution and said that the vacation bureau has been getting national recognition for its promotion policies and has been referred to recently as the top resort group in the country.

Eric Schuchard, manager of the Penn-Stroud Hotel, assumed the presidency of the bureau at the close of the meeting. He had served as first vice president under Altier.

Altier lauded Schuchard's services to the vacation bureau and told the members that their new president "was an outstanding choice."

Praise Outgoing Officers

Both Altier and Schuchard praised the outgoing officers for their work in balancing the year's budget. Altier said the financial picture of the bureau is "the finest in years."

Other new officers of the bureau are Eric Danisch, first vice president; Mrs. Ella Franke Vannatta, second vice president, and Charles Poalillo, treasurer.

Government Salaries

The Advisory Panel on Federal Salary Systems has reported that federal salaries for in the executive, judicial and Congressional branch are too low to attract the best men the country needs today.

"We are asking our federal officials to accept these responsibilities at salaries much less than they can obtain elsewhere and much less than the level that would make it possible for them to serve the government . . ."

"In brief we have created a situation where only men of substantial means can afford federal appointment."

That was the summary of the situation presented by Clarence B. Randall, retired president of Inland Steel Co.

The study discovered that the present ceiling of executive pay ($25,000 for a cabinet member) is lower than the salaries paid many individuals in state and local governments.

For instance, the advisory panel discovered that the comptroller of one Southern state is paid more than the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States; the mayors and city managers of 24 cities all receive a salary of more than $24,000; and 143 public school administrators have salaries ranging from $20,000 to $50,000.

The question is—how can the best men of the nation be attracted to federal government positions when they have to take a terrific pay cut to work for the nation?

There are still many wealthy men who will take government positions for civic duty, personal pride of position, or the will to advance their names for political reasons.

But the complex and difficult responsibilities of high government office in government agencies, in the Congress and in the Supreme Court cannot be met by rich men alone.

We agreed with the advisory panel that the pay structure of all three branches should be revised upwards. We should make this valuable and not relatively large investment in the quality of our federal government.

German Youth Work Penance In Israel

By Eric Gottgess

JERUSALEM (Israeli Sector) (AP) — Hebrew newspapers passionately discuss the question of Israel's relations with Germany and with visitors from the former Nazi ruled country. There are still many people here who want such links restricted to the barest minimum.

But every day, even before the Israeli morning papers are out, 18 young Germans, including three girls, are working on a building site here, putting stone on stone and tile next to tile, to complete construction of a School for Blind Children.

The Germans, aged 18 to 22, came here as volunteers for a year under a scheme organized by "Aktion Suedniedersachsen" — Operation Symbol of Repentance. To this, the usual Israeli reaction is: "We welcome them. They are friends. They were not even born when Hitler started his war. And they are certainly innocent of what stands between us and the Germans."

"We certainly did not come here for any material reasons," a spokesman of the group told us. "We want to show that there stitute for the Blind" is at the Western entry to Jerusalem, not very far from "Yad Vashem," the solemn Judean mountain-top structure with the Eternal Light commemorating the millions of Jews who perished under the Nazi regime.

The work of the volunteer team sent here from Germany begins at 5:30 a.m. every week day. There's a break one hour later for prayers and reading from the New Testament. Work then continues till 1 p.m. when lunch is taken together with the children for whom they are building the school.

In the afternoon many study Hebrew for an hour. In the evenings they occasionally hear lectures or attend a concert or a theatre performance though they haven't much money to spend. Their organization, which takes care of their board and lodgings in Israel, pays them only $12 a month pocket money.

"We certainly did not come here for any material reasons," a spokesman of the group told us. "We want to show that there are Germans who just cannot forget and do not want to forget what the men and women of the older generation have either committed, cooperated with or tolerated. We came here to have a visible sign of our goodwill and of our feelings of shame for what has been done in the name of the German nation under the Nazis."

Israeli youth — sometimes rather nationalist and not too ready to fraternize — and the German group occasionally meet for discussions, with English serving as the common language. There are also some joint German-Israeli weekend excursions.

The construction of the Jerusalem "School for Blind Children" is the third good-will project undertaken by young Christian Germans in Israel and the 20th carried out by "Aktion Suedniedersachsen" in all. Founded in the spring of 1958 by a group of German Evangelical churchmen under the leadership of the Prelate Dr. Lothar Kreyssig, the organization aimed from the outset at the formation of workers teams for work in European countries which suffered particularly under the Nazi occupation. Israel was added to the roster as the home of many Jews who spent years in concentration camps.

Only a few hundred men and women have so far followed Prelate Kreyssig's call. There are still many in Germany who believe the project to be controversial. But this does not deter Prelate Kreyssig and his adherents. They indefatigably recruit young people — preferably building workers and artisans but also students and others — for humanitarian service abroad, and also collect funds to carry out the various schemes.

In autumn, after having completed the school, the group in Jerusalem will go for another six months to the coastal plain kibbutz (collective settlement) of Bahai to help with the orange harvest. Two previous "Suedniedersachsen" teams which have come to Israel, did kibbutz work only.

Outside Israel, another "Suedniedersachsen" team is now erecting a synagogue and a community center for the remnants of a small Jewish community near Lyon, France. Two other groups are building a youth hostel in Quaregnon, Belgium, and digging cisterns on Crete. A team of 10 girls is doing a year of service in Norwegian hospitals and social centers.

PLASTIC BONE-SETTER

At the Western General Hospital in Edinburgh, Scotland, Dr. Philip Harris has created a compound out of an acrylic resin for use in severe fractures of the spinal column.

The compound is applied and molded to the broken fragments and "sets" in eight to ten minutes. It has been used successfully and sometimes eliminates complicating wiring and bone-grafting.

A series of patients on whom this method of fracture repair has been tried have actually been able to resume modified normal activity in two to three weeks.

The new product is inert and does not seem to produce any unusual toxic side effects.

Second Stage Planning

Second In A Series

The Bureau of Community Development, State Department of Commerce, has a two-year package deal for Monroe County just for the asking. It is called the "second stage" of educating the populace within the region pointed for the indoctrination course.

Through federal funds administered by the State Planning Division, Monroe, for example, would receive about $80,000 to set up a fully-staffed office, manned by a specialist and workers familiar with the rules and regulations of planning.

According to our informant, James Hertz, state community and planning and recreation expert, the approximately two-year survey would cost the county around $25,000. Also, the second phase of the state's program is to dig deeper into the planning problems confronting county officials.

There was a time when the county wasn't troubled with condition of interchange and projects, such as the Tocks Island Dam and Recreation proposed.

Naturally, Atty. Charles (Chud) Bensinger, president of the Water Resources Association of the Delaware River Basin, and Frank Dressler, executive director of the WRA-DRB, have cause for concern about planning around their baby — Tocks Island.

Dressler is emphatic that a strong planning program is necessary in Monroe County. "We do not want Tocks Island to turn into a Coney Island," he said. "Planning is a must."

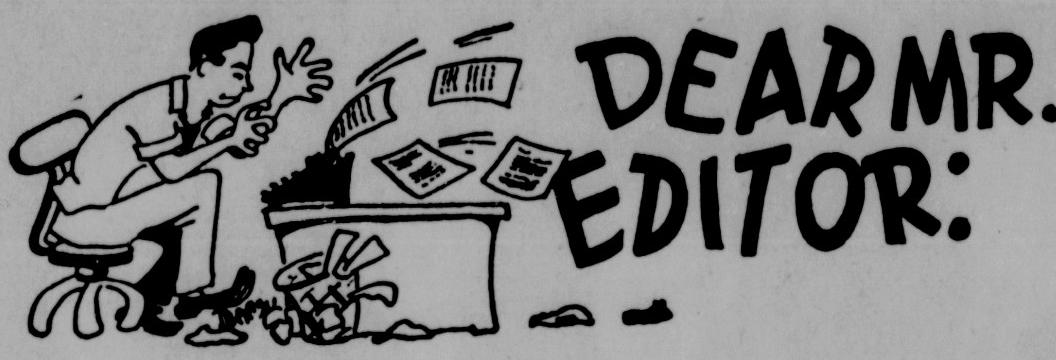

Bensinger echoed the sentiments of Dressler who works out of Philadelphia for the WRA-DRB. The Stroudsburg attorney imagines Tocks as a project of beauty, one that cannot be tainted by side-shows that will pay no deference to the intelligence of his readers.

It is impossible for me to comment in a letter on every statement he made and to answer every accusation he threw at us. It suffices to select a few of his remarks to show his lack of understanding and the absence of scholarly appraisal of events and developments in the Middle East.

His lack of knowledge of the religious development of the Palestine problem in particular and the history of the area in general is clearly indicated throughout his letter.

In his enumeration of the Arab countries that were liberated from Turkish rule and granted independence by the Allies as he claims, Dr. Shulman includes Iran as an Arab country. Any student of history knows well that Iran is neither an Arab country nor a country that was liberated by the Allies from Turkish rule.

The mixup undoubtedly stems from the failure of Dr. Shulman to understand the difference be-

Water Gap Negro Clarifies View On Discrimination

Editor, The Daily Record:

Reference to Reporter Gilbert Murray's article on Saturday, Sept. 14, 1963, re job discrimination in the Stroudsburg area:

I was quoted as saying, "Employers deliberately raise qualification standards to discourage Negro job applicants."

Mr. Murray failed to impart clearly that my remark was only an observation based on statements made by persons having personal experience.

I came directly to my present job (at Ronson Corp.) and have never had an occasion to seek employment elsewhere so I am not in a position to substantiate or collaborate any such accusation of employers in this area.

My present job is above average and I am quite sure I was hired only on the basis of my qualifications and merits. Therefore it would be rather hypothetical to generalize in an area where my own personal case is a glaring example of fair hiring policy.

There must be other companies in this area exemplifying true democratic principles similar to my employer. This should have been evident in Mr. Murray's article.

I am taking this opportunity to fully express my views as they apply to the article in question. The above should not be construed as a general recommendation for the members of my race, here or other places. The point I am trying to make is, this is our community, our town and our streets.

We should all be cognizant of these facts: 1. Unemployment breeds slums, crime and vice. 2. Citizens are taxed directly or indirectly to eradicate the above social menaces. 3. Unemployment means not being able to provide adequately for one's family.

To pin point the term "qualification" as it pertains to the various industries is, in my opinion, a tremendous task even for experts in this field, particularly in areas requiring person to person contact.

It is not at all bad to live in an atmosphere of unanimous satisfaction and understanding which will definitely bring about a social stabilization and eventually elimination of racial differences.

As one noted sociologist pointed out, this single demoralizing factor produces acts and events of astonishingly damaging effects on our community and society.

If the inquiring remark to which this article relates were true, limited of course to prejudiced employers, it is my firm belief that these people have or will soon realize that they have made a social error. Also that a job applicant is a single individual and does not embody the degrading thoughts, ideas and attitudes characterized by irresponsible members of the particular ethnic group to which he belongs.

Because of our dynamic and highly competitive society we must consider one's ability and qualification to do a job. However, other questions present themselves. Does he want to work? How does he get along with other people? Does he belong in social habits?

Personnel managers are experts in their field. They usually get the correct answers to important questions, then if a mistake is made the error can be corrected within the first few weeks of employment.

It is not at all bad to live in an atmosphere of unanimous satisfaction and understanding which will definitely bring about a social stabilization and eventually elimination of racial differences.

Arab Spokesman Answers Dr. Shulman's Attack

Editor, The Daily Record:

Dr. David Shulman's letter commenting on your editorial, "Arab Refugee Football," and my speech to the Stroudsburg Rotary Club has been brought to my attention.

May I cite another example of Dr. Shulman's distortion of the record, if not ignorance of the facts, when he claimed that an Arab "was not even allowed to visit his neighbor in the next tent under Turkish rule."

That Dr. Shulman was seeking to portray Arabs as people who live in tents is clear from his statement. Nothing is farther from the truth than such an allegation.

It is true that there is a small percentage of nomadic Arabs who roam the desert who live in tents and who may still be living in tents but the overwhelming majority of the Arab people have always lived in villages, towns and major cities.

Cities like Cairo, Baghdad,

Damascus, Rabat, Algiers, Jerusalem, and scores of others that have been prospering for millennia, are clear-cut indications of his deliberate distortion of the socio-economic conditions that have prevailed in the Middle East.

He also claims that "Israel is truly non-sectarian in its governmental policies". Not only is Israel a theocratic state where followers of one faith only are considered first-class citizens while the Christian and Muslim minorities are treated as second-class citizens but also within Judaism itself the followers of the Reform branch are not allowed to build a synagogue or even to drive a car on Saturday in Israel. How could a state in which such practices exist be considered truly non-sectarian?

He also claims that during the first World War the Arabs elected to fight against their co-religionists, the Turks, and on the side of the Allies because they wanted to be free and the masters of their own destiny.

Needless to say, the above-quoted statement from Dr. Shulman's letter is a manifestation of the need for him to check a few primary texts offered to high school students on the history of the region under the Ottoman Empire in order to see that movement of individuals was free, not only from one tent to another but from one country to another. All the Arab countries under the Ottoman rule enjoyed autonomous rule within the Ottoman Empire and free movement of individuals, good and bad and capital was the rule rather than the exception.

Dr. Shulman claims that Israel has a strong foundation of Judeo-Christian principles. I am sure that he could not have overlooked the reports that have been printed in the American press regarding the intolerance of Israel toward Christian minorities and the activities of missionaries.

The recent demonstrations staged in Israel, the attacks on a number of schools including a brutal assault on a headmistress in a Scottish school in Jaffa, in fact the religious fanaticism in Israel (a state which was created on a religious basis), the alarming number of incidents involving people of non-Jewish sects, are a clear refutation of Dr. Shulman's assertion.

He also claims that "Israel is truly non-sectarian in its governmental policies". Not only is Israel a theocratic state where followers of one faith only are considered first-class citizens while the Christian and Muslim minorities are treated as second-class citizens but also within Judaism itself the followers of the Reform branch are not allowed to build a synagogue or even to drive a car on Saturday in Israel. How could a state in which such practices exist be considered truly non-sectarian?

He also claims that during the first World War the Arabs elected to fight against their co-religionists, the Turks, and on the side of the Allies because they wanted to be free and the masters of their own destiny.

If there was a Sam Block fighting in General Allenby's army, there were thousands of Arabs who responded to the call for the Arab revolt and fought side-by-side with the Allied forces. Even the Hollywood film, "Lawrence of Arabia", attests to this fact.

Dr. Shulman apparently forgot that during the first World War the Arabs elected to fight against their co-religionists, the Turks, and on the side of the Allies because they wanted to be free and the masters of their own destiny.

If there was a Sam Block fighting in General Allenby's army, there were thousands of Arabs who responded to the call for the Arab revolt and fought side-by-side with the Allied forces. Even the Hollywood film, "Lawrence of Arabia", attests to this fact.

In his final remark Dr. Shulman apparently wants to ring down an iron curtain on the minds and hearts of the American people although they have the right to know all the facts pertaining to any situation. He does not want the people of Stroudsburg to hear the Arab side of a question which is vital to their country, a question which has adversely affected Arab-American relations as a result of activities on the behalf of the State of Israel by men like Dr. Shulman.

Since when do the American people need a guardian to tell them when to invite a speaker and when not to. My understanding of the American mind is that it is fair and alert.

Murder Suspect Judged Insane

BEAVER, Pa. (AP) — A Beaver County jury found Paul Cook innocent by reason of insanity Friday of the 1939 killings of his parents and sister.

Cook, 41, showed no emotion when the jury of six men and women announced the verdict after just 1½ hours of deliberation.

Cook, who has spent most of the last 24 years in Fairview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, was charged with murder in the axe and shotgun slayings of the three while they slept at their home in South Beaver Twp. on May 17, 1939.

Both the prosecution and Judge Morgan Sohn, who presided over the 2½ day trial, had recommended that Cook be acquitted by reason of insanity.

During the trial Dr. John Showlin, superintendent at Fairview, testified that Cook no longer presents a threat to society or himself.

Senator Scott Sees 'Jackassery'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., Thursday described Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama as a pipsqueak practicing "jackassery" on the civil rights issue.

The Alabama governor, Scott said, has caused "revulsion throughout the country by his jackassery" in civil rights controversies.

Mines Will Be Focus Of Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., urged Congress yesterday to bring small mines under the safety regulations now in force for large mines.

Dent, in a House speech, called for enactment of his bill to remove the exemption from safety laws now held by mines employing less than 15 men.

He said automation, permitting the use of fewer miners, and an improved market condition, making the operation of small mines more profitable, has greatly increased the number of mines employing less than 15 men.

Joining in support of Dent's bill were Reps. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., Arnold Olson, D-Mont., and William G. Bray, R-Ind.

The books were mailed to the library from Greenwich, Conn.

Watching Boarders Come, And Go, Favorite Hobby

(Editor's Note: This is the second of 15 articles by a long-time resident of the Stroudsburg area.)

By GERTRUDE V. BURLINGAME HERSHY

A favorite pastime in the summer was for my parents to take my sister and me to the Lackawanna station every Sunday afternoon to see all of the summer boarders going back to the city, as well as many coming on the trains for their vacations.

Most every night we would have an early supper so we could watch the visitors walking to town, all dressed in the latest city attire.

On many occasions we made friends with some. I can remember one instance very clearly, a family by the name of Loder from Asbury Park took quite a liking to me and for many years they remembered me on my birthday as well as Christmas with boxes of gifts that it would take a long time to list.

And when they came back each summer I would again receive a big box of gifts. These people spent their vacations here for many years.

It seemed as if we always went to town on Saturday nights and it seemed as if we were always there when a locomotive was just leaving the station and you could see the fireman shoveling in the coal with the reflection of the fire box on the shovel.

Scared Of Sparking Wheels

Then the old engine would snort and the wheels would slide around with the sparks flying from the wheels, as well as the smoke stack of the engine. I always clung real tight to my daddy as I was scared.

I can remember I always wanted to be carried just about the time we got to where the old glass factory was as it seemed there were always sparks and fire coming out of its huge smoke stacks, too.

I went to the grade school on N. Courtland St. and remember such teachers as Miss Kurtz, Ruth Brown, Leila Bruch, a Miss Decker and Ruth Flory. I believe Mr. Goss was principal at that time.

I remember them putting on a play that was given at the old Grand Theater and I was a fairy with big white wings in the play or I was an angel I just forgot. Miss Glenn also put on an operetta which was an extravaganza in those days. The one I

Cramer Lumber Firm Fire

One day when we were eating our supper in the dining room, I looked out the window and saw great clouds of smoke rolling toward the sky. It was the R. C. Cramer Lumber Co. that was on fire.

I also remember my mother and father getting us out of bed and taking us to the Davies Strauss Stauffer fire on N. Courtland St., which is now part of the Hughes Printing Co. We also went to see what was left the next morning. I can still see cooked spaghetti all around on the ground.

East Stroudsburg—Miss Carolyn Stark Cullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas V. Cullen, of Shawnee-on-Delaware, and Ronald Herbert Christman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Christman, of Kresgeville, were married on Saturday, Sept. 7 at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg.

Msgr. Michael J. Kennedy, of Scranton, officiated at the 11:30 a.m. ceremony. The main altar was decorated with bouquets of white gladiolas. Roses were placed at the side altars while the family pews were marked with bows. Mrs. Nancy Shukaitis was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white satin. The fitted bodice was appliqued with lace around the scalloped neckline and the three-quarter length sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt had a chapel train. A matching pillbox held her three-tiered finger tip veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis with a cascade of English ivy.

Mrs. Fred Angle, of East Stroudsburg, RD 1, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of French blue silk taffeta with fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves and bell-shaped skirt with a matching Dior bow headpiece.

The bridesmaids, Miss Denise Bostick, cousin of the bride, of Hoboken, N. J.; Miss Gloria Christman, sister of the bridegroom, of Kresgeville, and the Misses Priscilla and Peggy Fry, of Stroudsburg, wore gowns of similar style in a deep royal blue.

Dedication Service Set For Sunday

The congregation of the First Baptist Church, East Stroudsburg, will dedicate a new Youth and Educational Building Sunday at 9:45 a.m.

A special service of consecration will be conducted at which time records of the church history and certain artifacts will be placed in the corner stone which will be set during the service.

The use of this new structure will greatly relieve the congestion of the present facilities and provide a center for the expanding youth activities of the congregation. Ground was broken for the new building on Easter Sunday. The furnishings for the building are not all at hand at this time. These appointments will be arranged within the next few weeks.

All members of the Church and School and friends in the area are invited to attend this dedication.

Water Gap PTA Charts Busy Year's Course

Delaware Water Gap—The PTA had nineteen present for its first meeting of the fall which opened with the salute to the flag after which Mrs. Stephen Matos, the president, turned the meeting over to Gilbert Dunning, Stroud Union School District official.

Dunning first introduced the new third and fourth grades teacher, Mrs. Anna Bell Peechatka who spoke briefly urging the parents to do all in their power to further the reading skill of their children as that is the basis for good school work. Mrs. Gary Dennis, who comes to the Water Gap school to give instruction in music, was then introduced. She told the mothers that she is going to stress learning the fundamentals of music as she had missed such instruction in childhood and knew how much it is needed.

George Metropoulos, physical education instructor, was called on by Dunning. He showed a sketch of the type of gymnasium apparatus used after the fifth grade for children to develop strength of arms and chest. He felt that the Water Gap school children needed a simpler style of climbing rope, bar and ladder. The first and second grades children are taught to develop skill in throwing and catching. The PTA instructed Metropoulos to secure the needed equipment.

Dunning then spoke briefly about the changes in teaching mathematics and called on Mrs. Lillian Marshall, teacher of the first two grades, who explained the stepped up program for teaching mathematics to the youngest children.

Dunning explained the requirements of the Supreme Court decision as to Bible reading and prayer in the schools. He also told of the State Department of Education's command that everything in the schools that does not have to do with solid education be dropped.

At the business session, Mrs. Matos spoke of the loss of several mothers who had been elected to offices in the PTA but whose children had been transferred to the Ramsey school. Mrs. Robert Kaiser was named as new treasurer and Mrs. Vice Keiper as hostess chairman. Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser, secretary, read a number of letters received during the summer, either of thanks for past kindness or regret at leaving the PTA and relinquishing office.

Members were instructed to pay their dues to Mrs. Olive Warner. Mrs. William Fisher, chairman of the program committee, passed a sample of the year programs which will be distributed at the next meeting. The reading and discussion make each person his own teacher.

The discussion leader, Dr. Marjorie Smith, professor of Geography at East Stroudsburg State College, guides discussion, by questions that bring out the relationship of what a particular author says with its meaning in the present time.

The following books will be read and discussed:

Melville "Billy Budd" — Chaucer, "Canterbury Tales" — Plato, "Timaeus" — Aeschylus, "Prometheus Bound" — Cervantes, "Don Quixote" Part I — Arnold Rose, "The Negro in America" — Spinola, "Ethics" Part I — Darwin, "Origin of Species".

Baudelaire "Flowers of Evil" — Joyce "Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man" — Golding "Lord of the Flies" — Erich Fromm "Psychoanalysis and Religion" — James "Turn of the Screw".

There is no charge for participation, the only cost being the purchase price of the group of paper back books, which are available at a local store.

For further information persons may telephone 421-2903 or 421-8815.

Vivian Stevenson Bride Of Ronald Menacavitz

Newfoundland—Miss Vivian Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Stevenson, of Newfoundland, was married August 24 to Ronald Menacavitz, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Menacavitz, at the Hemlock Grove Methodist Church.

Rev. Denton H. Covert, Jr., performed the double-ring ceremony with Mrs. Florence Kreager as organist and Mrs. Arthur Jones soloist. She sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladiolas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional chapel length gown of peau rayon over taffeta. The princess bodice had an irregularly scooped neckline accented with a pastron of Alencon lace embroidered with lustre pearls. The long flowing sleeves tapered to points at the wrist. The controlled fullness was marked by a center panel with matching lace motifs and pearl embroidery, side pleating and back fullness with an obi sash and matching panels released her aisle-wide chapel train. Her four tiered veil of hand rolled imported French illusion was arranged from a double crown of pearl scallops sprinkled with aurora borealis. She wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom and carried a cascade of white baby carnations with a center of red roses.

Mrs. Shirley Butler, of Newfoundland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a waltz-length gown of Lucerne blue peau satin with inset midriff, scoop neckline and elbow-sleeves above belled skirt of unpressed pleating centered with a self-fabric cabbage rose and matching petals. Her matching demit-hat was of petals outlined with seed pearls centered with a self-fabric rose. She carried a cascade of white carnations centered with red gladiolas.

Mrs. Pauline Gilpin, Newfoundland, sister of the bride, and Miss Carol Stewart, of Cresco, as bridesmaids, wore identical gowns. Debbi Dozack, of 929 Park St., Oliphant, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a floor length gown, a miniature of the other attendants. The bridesmaids carried cascades of white gladiolas fringed with buds of red gladiolas. The flower girl carried a miniature of their bouquets. Gene Budzinski, of Mount

Wife Gets Tearful Over Working For Husband

How does an actress react when she's working for her husband?

"She occasionally bursts into tears," admits Cornel Wilde, husband of beautiful Jean Wallace. "What she resents is the extra rehearsals she must do weekends because she is married to me."

The two play Lancelot and Guinevere in "The Sword of Lancelot," a picture Wilde is also directing and producing.

Jean wouldn't mind if the rest of the cast had to work weekends too, he says. It's just that she feels that because she is married to him she must eat, dress and relax with script in her hand, even at home.

"The reason I like to do our rehearsals on weekends is because it saves us a great deal of time and puts us far ahead when we're making a picture," he says.

When you're the producer, that's cash in the bank.

Aside from his insistence on weekend rehearsals, he considers himself sympathetic director.

"My approach is to safeguard the sense of security of actors and actresses who benefit from an understanding attitude. One of the terrible things when I wasn't experienced was a lack of security. The director gave me hell in my first acting role, and it really threw me. But then after working with Lee Strasberg, an understanding coach, I acquired a different kind of concentration and I tried to do that with the actors in my own pictures."

He gets along with Jean fine on the set, he says, because she is a very hard-working professional actress.

"I like working with her, and she is very good. All the European reviews on this new picture singled out her fine performance. She got better reviews than I. At the Italian film festival where we won a gold prize, the picture was compared with 'Ben Hur,' and shown on the gala night," he says proudly.

Wilde was taking a pre-med course when he got his first acting role.

Linda Bypasses Dinosaur Eggs In Favor Of Simple Casserole

By Linda Pipher
Daily Record Home Economist

Stroudsburg — Billy told us the other night that when the time comes for him to pick out a wife he was going to take her to a restaurant and order something crazy like creamed dinosaur eggs. Then if she eats it and says, "Um, isn't this good?", he'll know she isn't for him. He wants to get a girl with good old fashioned tastes, not one who likes a lot of fancy food.

These remarks came when he look at a casserole I put on the table. With a sigh I told him again that we can't have hamburgers. It's a good, hearty one for a meatless day or on a day when you're stretching the food budget.

Hearty Casserole

In a buttered casserole put a layer of sliced potatoes.

Chopped green peppers.

Chopped onions.

Mix together and put on top of layers:

1 cup red kidney beans.

1 cup tomato soup diluted with

1/2 cup water.

Put a cover on casserole and bake in a 350 oven for two hours.

This next recipe comes from a church cookbook and I was intrigued because of its name. I haven't tried it yet, but it sounds good!

For the dried potatoes use the packaged.

It may have been from my sister. It's a good, hearty one for a meatless day or on a day when you're stretching the food budget.

Shipwreck Casserole

1 1/4 quarts dried potatoes (6 cups)

1 can kidney beans

1 pint (2 cups) whole tomatoes

chopped onion and chopped celery

1/2 cup rice mixed with 1 cup water

1 1/2 pound hamburger

Brown hamburger. In a casserole put a layer of each of above ingredients in order given; repeat layers. Bake in a 350 oven for 2 hours.

Did you ever french fry cauliflower? It's a good way to use up leftovers or cook a head until it's almost soft. Cut into pieces, dip in beaten egg, roll in cornflake crumbs and fry in deep fat (450 degrees) until golden brown. Um, good!

1/2 cup water.

Put a cover on casserole and bake in a 350 oven for two hours.

This next recipe comes from a church cookbook and I was intrigued because of its name. I haven't tried it yet, but it sounds good!

For the dried potatoes use the packaged.

It may have been from my sister. It's a good, hearty one for a meatless day or on a day when you're stretching the food budget.

Shipwreck Casserole

1 1/4 quarts dried potatoes (6 cups)

1 can kidney beans

1 pint (2 cups) whole tomatoes

chopped onion and chopped celery

1/2 cup rice mixed with 1 cup water

1 1/2 pound hamburger

Mrs. Wells Resigns Valley Social Service Unit Post

BETHLEHEM — The resignation of Mrs. Samuel O. Wells, III, of Stroudsburg, as a board member of Lehigh Valley Social Service Exchange was accepted yesterday by the board at its meeting held at Hotel Bethlehem.

Mrs. Wells, who was beginning her second three-year term as a director, found it necessary to resign because of a change in employment preventing attending daytime meetings.

Mrs. Wells had served on the finance committee of the SSE in 1960 and 1961 and was a member of the public relations committee in 1962. She was also chairman of the nominating committee in 1962.

Monroe County representatives continuing on the board are Mrs. Harold S. Pond, Jr., of Stroudsburg and E. Holt Wyckoff Jr. of Stroudsburg, R.D.

McCool to Serve

Miss Jeneva Paris, chairman of the exchange professional advisory committee, announced that Henry McCool, juvenile probation and parole officer of Monroe County Probation and Parole Office, will serve with the committee.

The committee is a representative group of people from the 86

Food Cost In Locale On Upswing

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Overall cost of food in the Stroudsburg area showed an upswing of 2.2 per cent during the second quarter of 1963, the State Department of Labor and Industry said yesterday.

Statewide food costs showed an upswing of 1.9 per cent during the period.

Commenting on the statewide increase in the food index the department noted that "sharply increased prices for sugar along with seasonally higher prices for pork were the major causes of the 1.9 per cent rise in Pennsylvania's food index since April."

Three-Month Difference

The following represent some of the sample food items for the area indicating average cost around July 15, with cost around April 15 (beginning of quarter) in parentheses:

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Only from the carefree heart of a child could come such joy.

Or could it? Is it necessary to lose childhood's happy laughter? Must we feel depressed and burdened with the yoke of adult cares?

Certainly not! The God-given gifts of joy and happiness are possessions we can and must retain throughout all our years. But how can we keep this wonderful spirit?

Here is a formula that is very simple: attend the church of your choice regularly. In God's house you will learn to accept life's burdens — and soon they will be ever so much lighter. His Peace will fill your heart. Here, in fellowship with others, you will receive the needed peace and understanding to reclaim and sustain the merry heart.

Lehighton Blanks Stroud Union In Season's Opener, 13 To 0

LEHIGHTON — Stroud Union's Mountaineers, unable to penetrate any further than the Lehighton 30-yard line, were blanked by the Indians last night, 13-0, on a muddy field here in the 1963 grid opener for coach Jerry Stulgatis' eleven. The Mountaineer offense could not get up any steam to generate a sustained drive and were outplayed by the home club all the way.

The Indians clicked off a total of 10 first downs — twice as many as Stroudsburg — and outdistanced the visiting Mounties on the ground by a 92-53 margin.

Both teams completed but three passes, but the Indians gained 72 yards through the air while S-burg gained but 20.

Lead At Half

Both teams battled to a scoreless deadlock in the first period, but Lehighton carried off a 7-0 halftime lead.

Lehighton started the first scoring march of the night following a punt, taking over on their own 40. Key play in the drive was a 30-yard pass play from Jerry Bowman to Keith Boyer, which carried the Indians to the Stroud Union 20. From there, Lehighton stayed on the ground with fullback Dave Werner handling the brunt of the offensive work. Werner plunged over from the 1 and Dick Snyder's PAT boot provided the halftime cushion.

While the Stroud Union offense remained sluggish through the third period — just as it had during the first half — Lehighton continued to outplay the Mounties although unable to reach pay dirt themselves.

But the Indians generated a 50-yard march in the final stanza as they once again took possession following a Stroudsburg punt.

Staying almost entirely on the ground in this drive, Lehighton pounded out the needed yardage before Jerry Bowman smashed his way across the goal line from the S-U 4.

Or the brighter side of the ledger for Stroud Union, however, was a fine goal line stand in the third period which followed an intercepted pass by Lehighton's Bill Stout who returned to the Stroudsburg 10 on a nifty 60-yard sprint.

Stop Threat

But the Mountaineers held the Indians on four downs, stopping the scoring threat on the 1-yard stripe.

Stroud Union's Mike Thurston also was a standout on defense, getting in on more than half of the tackles. Glenn Busing was the workhorse of the Mountaineer offense, carrying the ball more than 50 per cent of all running plays.

While Lehighton's aerial attack was able to pick up 72 yards during the first half, Stroudsburg controlled the air lanes during the last two sessions as the Indians were forced to stay on the ground.

But the opening game was a sad one for the Mountaineers who had high hopes for the '63 campaign.

Bangor, Parkland Deadlock In League Contest, 6 To 6

By ARMON WILLIAMS
Daily Record Correspondent

BANGOR — Once again Bangor Area High and Parkland High were synched on the gridiron, battling to a 6-6 stalemate before approximately 2,000 fans at Bangor Memorial Park Stadium last night.

It was the second straight deadlock involving these Lehigh-

Northampton League members. They opened their respective races in the circuit with a 19-19 tie a year ago.

Down by six at the end of the half, the Trojans overhauled the rejuvenated Slates early in the fourth on a 56-yard pass play, their only successful launching of seven attempted.

Bangor, in control of the ball practically all of the way, scored late in the second period on a sustained drive born on the Slates' 34. Only 10 thrusts were needed to go the distance.

Sets Pace

Bangor set the pace at the start, fired by Jimmy Parsons' 23-yard runback of Ron Chaplin's kickoff to the 10. Carries by Parsons and Bill Yeager, interspersed only by a 15-yard forward from Jimmy Dietz to Bill Schankel, reeled off four straight first downs and penetrated to Parkland's 6.

With the start of the next series, however, the handoff from center was dropped, Parkland recovered and a fine 45-yard punt by Jeff Speer squashed the challenge completely.

When the Slates finally regained their early momentum, the same cast clicked for the touch-down. Parsons sparked with both jants of 18 and 17 yards and Dietz again hit Schankel, this time for a dozen yards. Reaching the 13 and in a critical third and 11 situation, Dietz delivered to Parsons on the goal-line for the tally. Duane Krauss' placement lifted lift for the extra point.

Bangor continued to pick up yardage without profiting after the intermission. When a march finally was organized, it was turned aside by Dave Hoffman's interception on the 25.

Another aerial steal, this by Speer on Parkland's 41 when Parsons tried his hand at pitching, was the prelude to the Trojans' come-from-behind spectacular. Ed Scholl, on first down, caught Russ Snyder open on Bangor's 35 and Snyder followed a clear path into the end zone. An off-side penalty nullified Speer's plunge to the point and Al Mastellar's bid to connect on a pass was knocked down.

The Slates performed valiantly in an effort to get in front again and got their feet in the door when Dick Jones retrieved Speer's bobble on Bangor's 43. But the Slates began to encounter difficulty after reaching the 32 and on third down lost possession when Dave Hoffman picked off Dietz' pass on the 10.

At this late hour the invaders retaliated with their peak output of the game. Speer carved out big chunks of yardage with plunges up the middle and Parkland crossed over to Bangor's 30 in only nine tries before bowing to the clock.

Royals Raise Coach's Hopes

ROSENTO — Vince Shemanski, coach of the Pius X Royals of Roseto, was optimistic before the season started. And already this 1963 edition has raised his hopes considerably.

While looking forward to Sunday's contest at home against Marian Catholic, Vince is still enjoying the sweet smell of success from last Friday night's 13-6 opening win at Bristol.

Shemanski said before the season started he had hopes of going over the .500 mark this year. The Royals won only three games last season, but already they have conquered one of the teams which numbered Pius X among their victims in '62.

Bristol last year grabbed an 18-13 victory over the Royals in the season's opener for both clubs. Pius X reversed that score last Friday.

MORE OF SAME

They hope to do the same against Marian Catholic Sunday. And for even more reason.

There's nothing worse than losing by one point. It hurts worse, psychologically. And that's what Marian Catholic did to the Royals last year when they nudged the Roseto eleven by a 20-19 count. The wound is still smarting.

With 11 lettermen back for this season, Shemanski feels he has a sound ballclub. His feelings were strongly supported last week by the squad's performance. Now, the Royals are pointing to a second straight triumph.

NOT A QUITTER

One thing which Shemanski has already found out — and which makes him feel all the

Pittsburgh Sets Spring Training

PALATKA, Fla. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates' farm teams will hold spring training in Palatka the next 10 years under an agreement reached with the City Commission Friday.

Major Frank Hancock and Joe O'Toole, assistant general manager of the Pirates, agreed on terms of the 10-year contract.

A $250,000 spring training facility is to be built by the city, with construction starting in four to five weeks.

A Dilemma: Submerged Golf Balls

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — In thousands of creeks, lakes and ponds are millions of submerged golf balls—planted there by errant drives.

To whom do these golf balls belong?

This was a dilemma that threatened to split the staid Green Hills Country Club here Friday. Solution of the case might set a precedent for lost balls throughout the world.

A pond on the course recently was drained and 4,000 golf balls, many of them practically new, were salvaged from the muddy bottom.

Some of the balls were inscribed with the names of their original owners.

These members contend that the balls were rightfully theirs.

The new Atlanta International League club. A new sta-with Slatington starting at 8 p.m. "We hope we won't make too many mistakes too soon because of the inexperience," a cautious Kist says.

But he points out at the same time that "the spirit's been good and the attitude seems good."

Fullback Mike Ajgian and line-man Bob Corby are the only two highly depicted by graduation.

"Team Effort"

As Kist puts it: "We don't have any outstanding football players so it has been a complete team effort with everybody doing the job."

The big question is, "Can everybody do it?"

Kist says he doesn't know. The coaching staff, the student body and the fans apparently will be able to determine this only after game action.

Question marks pervade this year's Cavalier squad. And Kist says, "Our biggest question mark is the tackle positions and lack of depth in those slots both offensively and defensively. When our tackles operate properly, our defense and offense both perks up."

What about the backfield? "It's very young," says Jack Ajgian, "we'll have to be the workhorse."

Ajgian gets the nod for the starting fullback berth while the rest of the backfield will be Doug Hilary at quarterback and Jim Wilkins and Bill Nelson at the halfback posts.

In the line will be Ron Spinner at center; Randy Heller and Bob Corby at guards; Alan Shukatis and Bob LaBar at tackles, and Ted Janusz and Dave Luttrell at ends.

Spinner and Corby have been selected co-captains for this year.

No Rout

Lewis was indicted in January along with Doyle Lee Campbell of Bassett, Ark. who died Tuesday. He had been with the club 14 years after he left the University of Mississippi.

Lewis testified the checks represented repayment of loans made to him by Conerly. He said he and Conerly had been friends for "many, many years . . . as far back as 1946."

Jack Mara, president of the Giants, received a phone call from Conerly in Clarksdale, Miss., after the story was published. Conerly, reportedly very much upset, told Mara that Lewis was a friend of his to whom he loaned money, that he didn't know he was a gambler.

Charley told me to tell the football players that he never did anything wrong," said Mara. "He was very much upset after reading the papers."

Serves As Scout

Conerly's only connection with the Giants at present is an occasional scouting job.

Seek 2nd Straight

Cardinals Face Hungry Thorpe

SWIFTWATER — The Cardinals of Pocono Mountain seek their second straight win of the season today against Jim Thorpe — a team which not only has dropped two contests already but also is seeking its first touchdown.

The Olympians of Jim Thorpe were humiliated last week by Lehighton, 51-0. If ever a team was hungry for revenge, this is one. Boyd fears they are ready to take out their vent on Pocono Mountain.

Meanwhile, Boyd has been trying to polish up the Cardinal offensive movements this past week. He described last Saturday's offensive performance as "very rusty" although praising the defensive team which staved off rally after rally by Lansford.

Boyd blamed "too much fumbling" and a "lack of precision" in the offense as the reasons for the lack of any sustained drives by the Pocono Mountain club last week. Their lone touchdown came as a result of an 81-yard sprint around end by Mark Mikels, a speedy halfback who will probably never forget that day.

But you can't count on long runs such as that all season long. Boyd has hopes of seeing something more in the way of a solid scoring march. That's the reason for his concentration on the offense this week.

Undefeated Colt Ready For Futurity

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph M. Roekling, who won the 1948 Futurity Stakes with his 2-year-old champion Blue Peter, sends his undefeated colt Black Mountain after the 7th running of the rich juvenile classic Saturday at Aqueduct.

Black Mountain is the 7-5 favorite for the 6½-furlong event, which drew a field of 13 youngsters including Claiborne Farm's Duel, winner of the Saratoga Special, and Mrs. Harris B. Massey's Dark King, who accounted for the Youthful Stakes.

Black Mountain whipped four stakes winners in his last start Sept. 10 at Aqueduct, among them Dark King and Duel. The runner-up was Wheatsley Stable's Bold Sultan, who ran third in the $100,000 Sapping at Monmouth Park and is second choice for the Futurity at 4-1.

Manuel Ycaza rides Black Mountain, then starts a 10-day suspension on Monday for rough riding in Thursday's second race.

With 13 starters, the Futurity will gross $14,460, the winner collecting $91,949.

dium, which would seat 45,000, is being planned, but is not expected to be ready until after the 1995 season.

Ponce de Leon Park seats only 6,000 but it can be enlarged to hold 25,000.

Regional Spaniel To Aid Cause Of Heart Surgery

MOUNTAINHOME — A seven-month-old cocker spaniel puppy named "Peter" will further the cause of heart surgery later this month when he goes under surgeons' hands at University of Pennsylvania for repair of a heart defect.

The puppy is owned by Mrs. Earl Manhart of Sugarbrook Kennels, Mountainhome. She discovered the puppy had a heart defect when the family who purchased the dog took him to a veterinarian for a check-up. The dog was returned and on the veterinarian's advice, Mrs. Manhart arranged for "Peter" to be taken to University of Pennsylvania.

The defect, a hole between the ventricles of the heart, is a birth defect in babies, causing "blue babies." Repair surgery done has been successful occasionally. Peter's operation will pave the way for better surgical techniques and practices which may lead to the saving of more lives.

The surgical repair planned would, if performed on a human, cost in the vicinity of $2,000 but since this would be in the nature of research, Peter will receive surgery and medical care free.

Dr. Patterson of the University of Pennsylvania said that the animal would be kept as a "Mascot" if he survives surgery, and will be used to show medical students and surgeons the results of such surgery.

Federal Grant

The operation will be financed through a federal grant which has been made to the U of P for research surgery in the field of open heart surgery.

But, Peter is seven months old and frisky and unaware that if the surgery is not done he will die before he reaches a year old. The operation will give him a new life.

Pete's parents, Suberbuk Outsmart and Cobytown Sassy Lassie, don't understand about such things. However, Mrs. Manhart feels the operation and donating of the dog to the university would make them proud parents.
